PROFILE

As a freelancer for 4 years, I was awarded the opportunity to work on more than 50 projects, including international ones. So I know how to talk with clients, work in a team and meet my deadlines. Driven by passion & curiosity, I dive deep into understanding things which intrigues me, be it users or my daily observations. Writing is my next favorite job. I document all of my findings and use them to propose solutions which can help make lives easier. Eventually, I want to become a product manager.

Knowledge over skills. My skill & toolset are vast but temporary, the only thing constant is learning and unlearning. So by the time you are reading this, I have already acquired something new.
